Expectations for the SET To get a better understanding of ARES/RACES and incident management using the SET process. As a new ham to learn more about emergency communication.

What Occured This location operated a Winlink Gateway on VHF and HF relaying messages across the state and entered Health & Welfare reports as well as responded to agency help requests.

What Went Well and Why The Winlink gateway performed extremely well relaying approximately 100 messages. The messages came in on both VHF and HF. The H&W web form also functioned well.

I was also impressed with how people handled traffic. People were trying and learning when it was evident they had little or no experience with passing traffic. Well done

Improving Operation and How I would recommend simulating power and internet outages to see how the system would perform w/o Internet. This does not need to happen during the entire set but maybe a simulated outage for an hour would be sufficient. This is mainly a Winlink communication issues but it also a training issues for operators.
